RFA 10-05: CIRM Disease Team Therapy Development Awards

The Disease Team Therapy Development Award initiative is an expansion of our original Disease Team Award Initiative. The purpose of CIRM Disease Team Therapy Development Awards is to enable preclinical and/or early clinical development of novel therapies derived from targeting stem cells or utilizing direct reprogramming that may offer unique benefit with well-considered risk to persons with disease or serious injury. The Disease Team Therapy Development Awards RFA has two parts: 1) a Part I Planning Award will support up to six months of team assembly, planning and proposal development for the Research Award application (which is the subject of this Part I competition), and 2) a Part II Research Award will support actively managed teams to conduct milestone-driven translational research (which will be the subject of a supplement to this RFA anticipated to be released in summer, 2011).

The key objectives of the Part II Research Award will be to achieve, within 4 years of the Part II Research Award start date, one or more of the following: 1) file a complete and well-supported IND with the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) (and, if desired, other regulatory agencies) and/or 2) complete a Phase I and/or Phase I/II clinical study that will evaluate preliminary safety and preliminary biological activity/early efficacy in humans and/or 3) complete a Phase II clinical study that will evaluate efficacy and could lead to more definitive efficacy studies.

Please see the RFA for full details.
