

Jonathan Thomas: What everyone at the World Stem Cell Summit should know about CIRM

Jonathan Thomas, CIRM governing board chair, sits down with CIRM at the World Stem Cell Summit booth to talk about what he wants all attendees to learn about CIRM at the meeting. The agency has 44 projects in 26 diseases in various stages of working toward clinical trials. He hopes meeting attendees get a sense of the breadth and scope of CIRM's funding and the progress being made in stem cell science.
